MUCH BUNK ABOUT RADIUM

Market Flooded with Preparations in Which Only Radium Is the Name on the Label

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 10.—The European demand, which used to take most of our radium away from us, is largely cut off by the war, and for the first time American scientists and physicians have a considerable supply of this most precious and interesting of all substances. A hospital in Baltimore has the largest quantity of radium in the United States, and a New York institution has the next largest amount. Many physicians are taking advantage of the opportunity to obtain a supply for their own use.

U. S. Starts Purchases
A center for the measurement of radium in America is the government Bureau of Standards at Washington. Many purchases of the substance are sent there to be tested, as are also numerous devices for the production and use of radio-active waters.

Handling and testing radium are among the most delicate and difficult of scientific processes. Radium is so incredibly valuable in proportion to its bulk that a million dollars worth of it might easily fall through a very small crack. A glass tube of radium that looks like a bit of fine straw, shorter than a pin, and containing about one-half a grain of radium, is worth $4,000 at the current price of $120 per milligram.

It requires great care to test these tiny tubes containing material that is a hundred times more precious in proportion to its weight than diamonds. When received they are stored in safes which are carefully guarded. Each glass tube of radium is enclosed in a silver tube, which is enclosed in a lead tube, which is put in a leather case. All of these coverings are necessary, not only to prevent the loss of the radium, but to guard whatever comes in contact with the package from the penetrating energy of the radium radiations. One of the government experts on radium handles these little tubes, when they are exposed, with tiny tongs made for the purpose. About two years ago he held one of them for a few minutes in his bare fingers. He felt nothing at the time, nor for more than a week afterward. Then the peculiar radium burns began to make their appearance. The skin cracked and sloughed off, and the wound required over three months to heal.

How it is Measured
The amount of radium in a tube is determined by means of an apparatus of fairly delicate, known as an electro-scope. The tube of radium to be measured is placed at a suitable distance from the instrument and the rate of motion of a sensitive bit of gold foil, as observed through a microscope, is determined by means of a stop-watch. Then this radium is removed and a radium standard of the Bureau is put in its place and the rate of fall of the gold foil is again determined. From these measurements the amount of radium in the tube under test is calculated; the amount in the standard being known.

The radium standard of the Bureau is a small glass tube containing pure radium chloride. Through the courtesy of the Austrian government this was prepared especially for the United States from pitchblende mined at St. Joachimsthal in Austria. This standard has been compared directly with the radium standard at Vienna and with the International Radium Standard at Paris. This standard contains 15.44 milligrams of radium.

ISLAND NEAR THE BOUNDARY SEIZED BY CARRANZISTAS

Concentration of the Troops Continues with Forces Moving Toward Border

RAILROADS ARE PATROLLED

Mormons Not Heard from; Report Says They Attempted to Cross the Desert on Foot

EL PASO, Texas, March 15.—Carranza soldiers began the construction of trenches at several points along the international boundary line east of Juarez today. The trenches face El Paso.

Another movement of possible belligerent interpretation was made by the soldiers of the de facto government, when they occupied an island in the Rio Grande from which there is easy access into El Paso.

EL PASO, Texas, March 13.—The concentration of United States troops to enter Mexico in pursuit of Villa was under full swing today.

The Sixth Infantry left Fort Bliss on the El Paso & Southwestern westward for "somewhere along the border." Its destination was believed to be Columbus or Hachita, both in New Mexico.

The Sixteenth infantry was scheduled to follow. It was believed to be going to Columbus, where upwards of 5,000 men will be concentrated by the time the order to cross into Mexico is received.

Date For Start Not Fixed
The date for beginning the Villa hunt was still a mystery here.

Indications were that which ever stand the de facto government took, a considerable number of its soldiers might ultimately decide to fight against the American troops. A concentration of Carranza troops is taking place along the border. Some estimated the number is more than 10,000 men.

Patrol Railroads
Military patrols were established today on all railroad lines running through El Paso lest Mexican sympathizers might dynamite the tracks.

Mormons Not Heard From
The whereabouts of the 500 American men, women and children from the Mormon colonies in Chihuahua was still a grave mystery this afternoon.

Gavira was reported to have been informed by state department agents that the de facto government would be held responsible for the safety of the 500 Mormons whom Villa has threatened to kill.

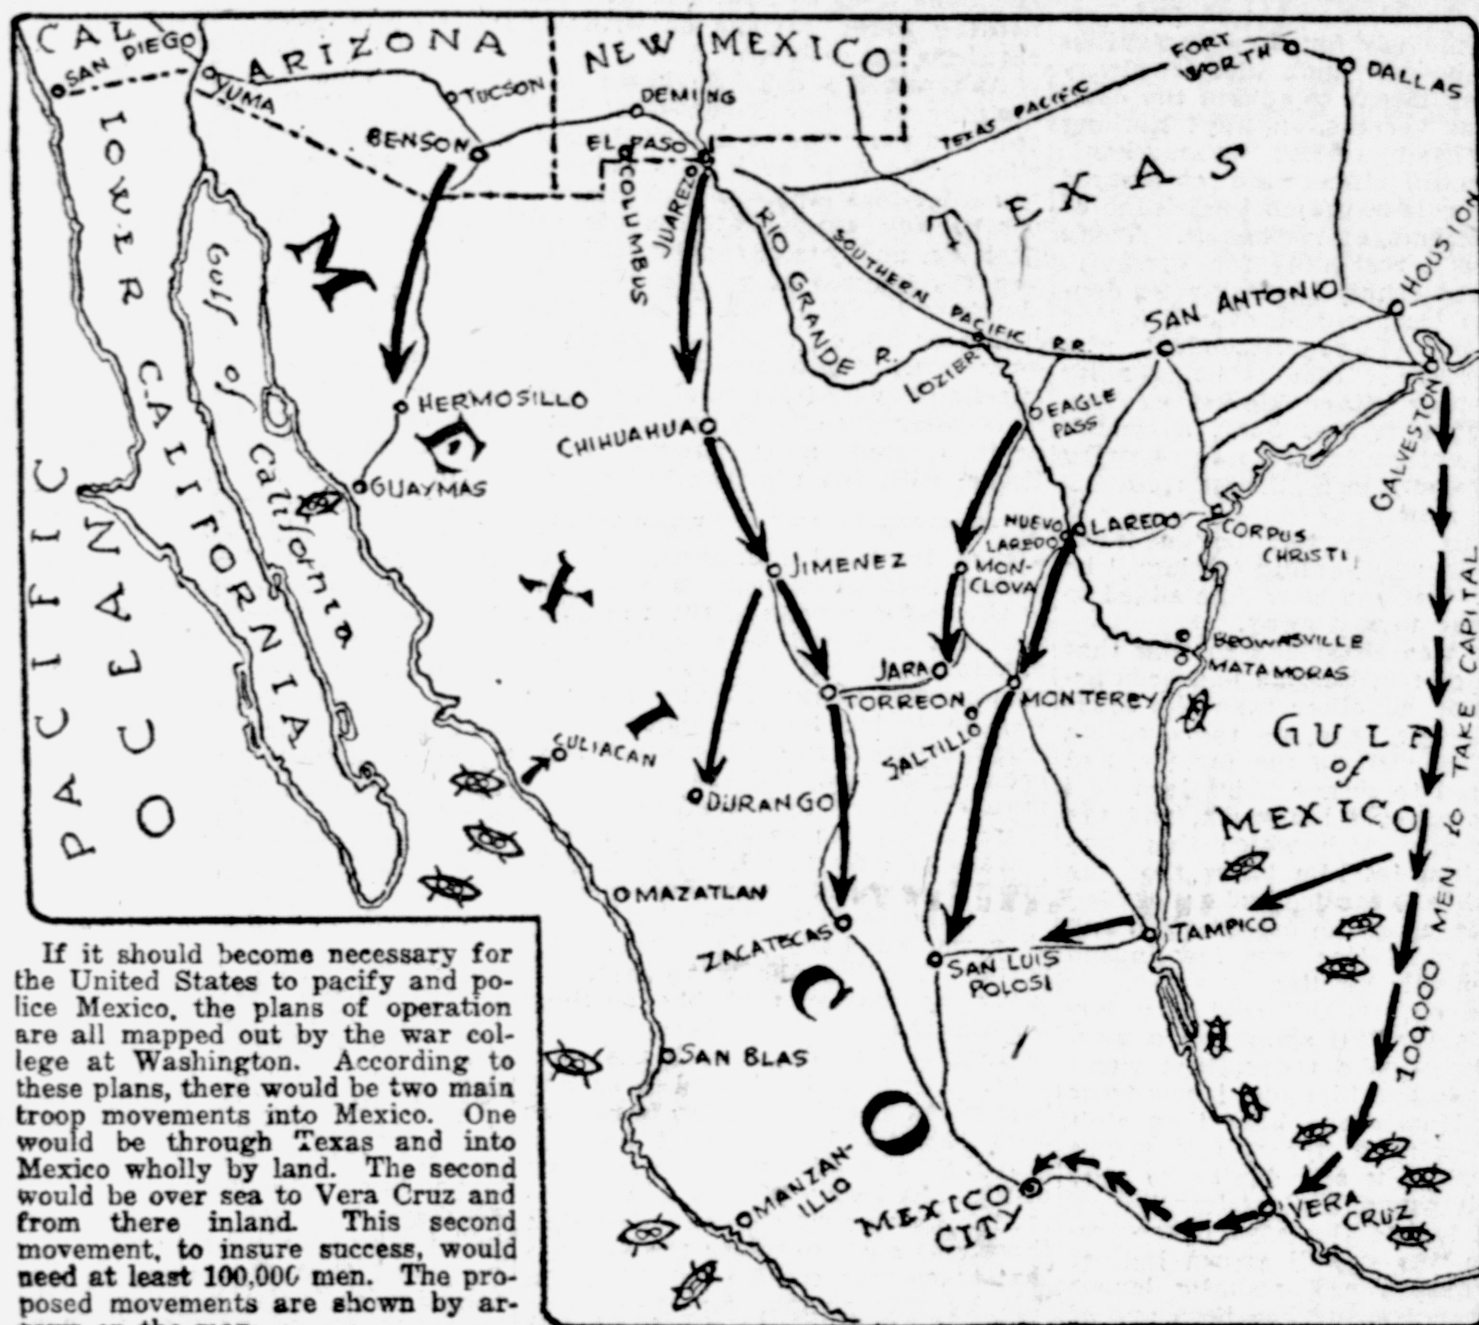

Report March Across Desert
A sensational unconfirmed report reached here that the Mormons were marching to the border on foot across the Chihuahua desert. The rumor seemed incredible.

Cowboys and other citizens handy with the shooting irons, today began a volunteer movement to organize local protection and possibly offer their services to the government. One thousand volunteer guards already have been obtained.

MRS. HYDE RETURNS WITH HUSBAND'S BODY

Mrs. S. Y. Hyde today arrived in La Crosse with the body of her husband, former leading grain merchant and capitalist of this city, who died last Thursday in Los Angeles. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 from the residence, 1130 King street. Members of the Masonic order will act as an escort for the body. Rev. C. C. Rowleson will officiate. With Mrs. Hyde today came Robert S. Hyde of Santa Barbara, Cal., and Mrs. C. W. Thompson of Cascade Locks, Ore., her children.

If Intervention in Mexico Should Become Necessary, Plans Long Mapped Out by War College Would be Used

If it should become necessary for the United States to pacify and police Mexico, the plans of operation are all mapped out by the war college at Washington. According to these plans, there would be two main troop movements into Mexico. One would be through Texas and into Mexico wholly by land. The second would be over sea to Vera Cruz and from there inland. This second movement, to insure success, would need at least 100,000 men. The proposed movements are shown by arrows on the map.

THREE DROWN IN SWOLLEN CREEK NEAR GALESVILLE

Three were drowned and five had miraculous escapes from death when a wagon in which they were returning to their homes, went off a bridge over French creek, six miles north of Galesville shortly after 6 o'clock Sunday night.

The dead:
Mattie and Ole Buxrud, twins, age 12 years.
Matt Steenburg, aged 35.
French creek, swollen by the recent thaws covered a portion of the bridge, preventing the driver from seeing the edge of the road.

Steenburg died attempting to save the twins.
Mrs. Oscar Steenburg saved herself and a nine-months old baby by swimming to a bank. The others clung to the wagon until they reached a spot where they could touch bottom.

The party was returning from a visit to the Martin Steenburg farm near Ettrick. All were residents of French Creek, settlement.

UNITED STATES PLACES EMBARGO ON WAR SUPPLIES

Mining Explosives Barred While Individuals Can't Cross Border Carrying Arms

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Considerations today were still halting the United States army's invasion of Mexico to hunt for Francisco Villa.

First, this government desires Carranza's assent, grudging or otherwise, to American operations on Mexican soil.

Second, General Funston, rather than "go half-cocked" is holding back the punitive expedition until his forces are in complete readiness.

It became known today that the United States has placed an air-tight embargo on munition shipments to Mexico. Even mining explosives are barred. Individuals are not allowed to cross at any point bearing arms. At Agua Prieta, a million rounds of cartridges ordered by Carranza were held up. A protest from Carranza against renewal of the embargo with his "friendly" government was believed in prospect.

Whether General Funston's operations would be held up until an agreement is reached with Carranza was a point upon which officials refused information today. It was refused.

Mexican Embassy Explains Warlike Tone of Proclamation Due to Errors in Translation

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Secretary Lansing said this afternoon that the state department had reached an agreement with the Carranza government in regard to the United States troops crossing the border with a reciprocal provision for the Carranza forces.

It is believed the agreement is a modification in some points of the proposal made by General Carranza yesterday.

BY ROBERT J. BENDER

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, March 13.—President Wilson will be able, the administration believes, to carry out his expedition against Villa without difficulty with Carranza. Lacking direct word from the president, other officials are convinced the Carranza proposal that his troops be conceded the "reciprocal right" of crossing the American border in case of necessity, will be granted.

Assurances from the Mexican embassy that the belligerent sounding manifesto issued in Mexico City, suffered by translation into English, and that the disposition to resent the American so-called "invasion" is no stronger than evinced by General Carranza's more moderate note of Saturday, tended to confirm the belief there will be no trouble on that score.

No news had come from the border.

"HAPPY" GREEN IN LATEST ACCIDENT SMASHES BIG PANE

The Legless One Plunges Through Saturday Night Crowd and Auto Breaks Plate Glass

"Happy" Green, christened Silas, legless leader of the Reckless Six and hero of a dozen auto affairs in La Crosse, was taken into county court this afternoon to answer for his latest escapade—driving his famous touring car through a big plate glass window of the E. R. Barron company Saturday night. The police have laid a charge against him of refusing to stop after the accident, which under the state law is punishable by a $1,000 fine or two years in jail, at the maximum.

Three young men were with "Happy" when the smash-up occurred. One, known as "Blackie" but otherwise not identified, escaped. Ray Zoeller, 21, and Otto Miller, 30, were held by the police as witnesses. "Blackie" was responsible for "Happy's" capture by the police. After the accident Green tried to escape, opening his throttle wide and dashing down Main street. "Blackie" kicked the switch and killed the engine. He jumped from the car and escaped before Patrolman Herman Riek caught up with the machine.

A skid was blamed by "Happy" for the accident which imperiled the lives of a score of people on Main street. He narrowly missed several women when his car went across the sidewalk. Witnesses said he was going twenty or thirty miles an hour. "Happy" sold his car today to a cousin, to get money to pay his bond. His attorneys expected to ask for a continuance this afternoon.

PRESIDENT HAS AMPLE POWER

Holway Cites Supreme Court Decision That Militia May Cross Border to "Repel Invasion"

WASHINGTON, March 13.—State militia and Spanish-American war veterans, who have volunteered for service on the Mexican border may have their wishes gratified. Scarcity of regulars may result in the calling of the state troops and volunteers, according to one of the highest men in the war office. They could be used for patrol duty at least.

Spanish war veterans are ready and willing to go, William C. Liller of Indianapolis, president of the United States Volunteer association, informed Secretary Baker in a letter today. He said an entire regiment of Rough Riders, men trained and experienced and familiar with border conditions could be recruited and placed in service within a few weeks. These men, he said, would be willing to furnish their own mounts, uniforms and equipment if necessary.

Secretary Baker insisted that no plans have been made for calling the militia, but army officers admit frankly that the situation is such that these troops may have to be called.

"Wisconsin has 3,500 militiamen ready for the field," said Adj. Gen. Orlando Holway, over long distance telephone from Merrillan today. General Holway said that he has received no official communication from Washington touching the situation in Mexico.

"Every company in the state is up to the minimum peace footing," said General Holway. In reply to an inquiry he added:

Camp Douglas is the mobilization point for Wisconsin. The entire militia has no difficulty in assembling there in twenty-four hours after an order is issued. We have made it in twelve hours, and in an emergency I think we could do so again."

Local Men Ready

Captain F. H. Fowler, of Company M, this city, said that the La Crosse companies are fully equipped for field service and could be mobilized quickly. He said that if convenience of the men were consulted twenty-four hours might be consumed in reaching Camp Douglas. The companies are both up to the minimum peace strength of sixty-five men and three officers. War strength is 150 men to the company, but an emergency call usually takes the companies as they are found, as no time is available for recruiting.

President's Power Ample

The question of the authority of the president to call out the militia in a situation like that on the Mexican border was discussed. In the Spanish-American war the men were required to engage in an offensive invasion of a foreign country, and under the law it was necessary to muster them in again with new oaths as federal troops.

General Holway said today that this will not be necessary in the present instance.

"The president has authority to call out the militia to meet an invasion of the United States," said General Holway. "The supreme court has held that this carries the authority to meet that invasion if

Mr. Carr was a busy and harassed man and he knew nothing of Henry's status, while Henry was too subdued to dream of disputing the tester. Accordingly he said nothing but maintained an attitude of submission, though there was a hot feeling growing in his breast and some sullen resentment was mounting through the overlying crust of shame.

"All right," said Mr. Carr briskly, with barely a glance at Henry. "Report to the timekeeper and get your card. Seventeen cents an hour."

In his dazed condition it did not dawn on Henry exactly what this meant. He made his way to the shops and was glad that he did not have to run the gauntlet of the office force. As his humiliation grew less acute with time, his anger mounted within him. He would show them! And Verrens should pay for these indignities he had heaped upon him if Henry could find means to square the debt. What was Verrens, anyway? Nothing but the head tester; a mechanic whose qualifications were represented by some rule-of-thumb knowledge of the rudiments of mechanics. There would be a reckoning for Verrens.

He went grimly to work after dinner, old clothes and overalls, first seeking out the superintendent, who had impressed him as being more capable than either Walker or Verrens. But Carr was busy, as usual, and had not time to waste on one who was extremely insignificant from his point of view.

"Johnny, show this boy a truck and put him to hauling castings," he shouted. "See you later," he added to Henry, and turned away.

Henry was chagrined to find that the mentor to whom he had been assigned was no other than the loud-mouthed boy who, on the occasion of his first visit to the factory, had endeavored to scrape his legs off with the edge of his truck, and the superior grin with which this imp greeted him let him know that the story of his cowardice had penetrated to the depths of the organization and that his reputation was low indeed with even this hireling.

"Come on, Cully," said the boy patronizingly. "I'll show you a nice, gentle, lady-broke truck, that won't turn on you and bite you, if you treat it kind. Here's one here that ain't too high-spirited for you if you're keener with it and don't go to yankin' it round too careless."

Henry looked the boy over carefully. He was a well grown lad of about eighteen and actually larger than Henry. His life had been one of manual labor and he was hardy of muscle.

"Where," said Henry, "are the castings I'm to load and where am I to take them?"

The boy gave the information with additional gibes and witticisms. Henry kept an even face throughout. But when he had gained the required information he reached out, grasped the collar of his tormentor and kicked him some ten feet forward where he fell upon his face and slid to the detriment of his complexion, the floor being of cement.

Following this, which raised a laugh from some of the men who were working within sight, he yanked the handle of his truck in a manner that showed he was thoroughly familiar with it, and strode off toward the pile of castings that had been indicated to him. The rough foundry-men eyed him a little doubtfully while the boy, somewhat surprised, found himself to be bellowing after him.

Henry paid no heed to either but swung a heavy casting from the pile and dropped it with a vicious bang upon the truck. Discrimination might have led those who saw him to wonder at the ease with which he did this and to take warning from it, but the workers, brought up to physical toil, could see in a college-bred youth with pale face only a physical weakness. When he had loaded a couple of castings he swung the truck deftly and walked back with it toward the turning lathes.

The lad who had suffered his vengeance had stopped to wipe his skinned face and to tell one or two others what he was going to do with the "sport," and now lay in wait for Henry. He rushed upon him as he bent forward against the weight of the truck and shot a leg forth to trip him, which might easily have resulted in serious injury.

But Henry stepped out of the way of the rush and, swinging the iron handle of the truck away from him, let it drop to the floor, where, after the manner of such implements, it snaked sideways and ran deftly between the legs of the belligerent Johnny. It knocked that worthy's feet from under him and it was only by an acrobatic effort of admirably quickness that he threw his hands forward upon the body of the truck and escaped being run down.

"Now," said Henry grimly, as Johnny drew his damaged features from contact with the iron involved by his hasty leap, "if you'll get off of that and stand up here, I'll knock you down again and I'll do the same for any other condemned joker that thinks he can get funny with me. I'm waiting for any one who wants to try it."

There was, at that moment, something about Henry that counseled discretion to all observers. The men who stood around, and who did not care a great deal for Johnny, passed his challenge with hoots for the victim of the accident and an adjuration to two directed at Henry, advising him to "keep his shirt on" and the information that no one was hurting him.

"And they'd better not, either," said Henry solemnly, as he spat on his hands and picked up the handle of the truck. "I can lick any one of you for doughnuts, marbles or chalk, and don't you forget it, either."

The marvel of it was that they took

Women Save $5 Using Gasoline

Says it is so easy to dry clean and nothing shrinks, fades or wrinkles.

Save $5 to $10 by doing your own dry cleaning. Here is a simple and inexpensive way to clean and brighten children's coats, suits, caps, woolen garments, Swiss lawn, organdie and chiffon dresses, kid gloves and shoes, furs, neckties, ribbons, silks, satins, lace, yokes, silk shirtwaists, draperies, rugs, in fact, any and everything that would be ruined with soap and water.

Get two ounces of solvite at any drug store and put it in two gallons of gasoline, where it readily dissolves. Then put in the goods to be cleaned. After a little rubbing out they come looking as clean and fresh as new. You will find nothing fades, shrinks or wrinkles, requiring no pressing.

Any woman can do home dry cleaning in a few moments at little cost and save lots of money. It is as simple and easy as laundering, and can't make a mistake. Your grocer or any garage will supply the gasoline, and your druggist will sell you two ounces of solvite which is simply a gasoline soap. Then a wash boiler or large dishpan, completes your home dry cleaning outfit. As gasoline is very inflammable, be sure to do your dry cleaning out of doors, or in a room away from fire or flame, with the windows left open.

him at his word and, though it was known that he had shown cowardice in the test car, none of them doubted but that it would be dangerous to presume on that fact. Perhaps his prowess was betrayed by the efficient way in which he manipulated the truck, or sheer moral force may have been responsible, but the men in the foundry, husky toilers every one of them, forgot his pallor of face and texture of skin and henceforth gave him full meed of respect.

But they ordered him about more than was good for his sorely tried temper. To them he was merely a lowly apprentice, probably destined for higher things than themselves but as long as he was beneath their authority, one to be lorded over and patronized if only that in after years each one could boast that he had "taught" a distinguished man most of what he knew. This angered Henry, for he was firmly convinced that there was nothing under the heavens that these men could teach him. In this he was wrong, for they gave him some examples of restraint and good temper that he failed to profit by.

On the third day of his degrading toil he had an opportunity. A man who was handling a big punch which required some manual skill, wished for relief. There was no one about who could take the machine while he snatched his lunch and he expressed his resentment of the fact within the hearing of Henry.

SUGGESTIONS TO SICK WOMEN

How Many Are Restored To Health.

First.—Almost every operation in our hospitals performed upon women becomes necessary through neglect of such symptoms as backache, irregular and painful periods, displacements, pain in the side, burning sensation in the stomach, bearing down pains, nervousness, dizziness and sleeplessness.

Second.—The medicine most successful in relieving female ills is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It regulates and strengthens the organism; it overcomes disease.

For forty years it has been making women strong and well, relieving backache, nervousness, ulceration and inflammation, weakness, displacements, irregularity and periodic pains. It has also proved invaluable in preparing for childbirth and the Change of Life.

Third.—The great number of unsolicited testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., many of which are from time to time published by permission, are proof of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, in the treatment of female ills.

Fourth.—Every ailing woman in the United States is cordially invited to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass., for special advice. It is free, will bring you health and may save your life.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

THE LION HUNTER

BY LOUISE OLIVER

(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Dear Hermione: The minute you are free you must come to us. We have all sorts of wonderful things planned for the summer; besides, Dick's cousin is coming for a month or so—you know, the one I've told you about—the traveler who has been everything from a Japanese consul to a Peruvian treasure hunter, to say nothing of big game everywhere you can think of. Naturally he has money, so here's your chance, my poor, big, independent sister. Get your little rich charges off for the seashore, if you must, but don't lose another second. And mind you don't call me names when you read this, for both Dick and I are determined to see you comfortably settled. We know what is better for you than you do yourself."

"Your loving sister, Anne."

Hermione smiled indulgently. "Dear little Anne! As though her big sister wasn't perfectly well able to look after herself! I can't see why people insist upon pitying me just because I happen to be the only surviving member of the family and earn my own living, and because, too, I have resisted matrimony until I'm the only one of the old set that's left. All right, little sister! I'll hurry to your cottage by the sea just because I love it, and you, but not to bait any lion hunter and 'settle' myself in life, as you put it."

The phone rang. "Hello! Is that you, Peter? Doing? Reading a letter from my sister in Sedgwick. She says she has something for me and she wants me to hurry and get it. You'd never guess what it is!"

"A dog!" Peter ventured.

"No!"

"Jewelry?"

"Wrong!"

"Some good advice! Sisters are usually long on that."

"No—yes! Anyway, it's advice of a kind. She's found me a husband."

"I'll kill him!" jealously.

An amused ripple was his answer.

"How funny from you, Peter! I never knew the quiet mysterious pool was a geyser, or, rather, to be in keeping with your name, I never suspected that the great, solid, dependable rock was a volcano. Don't be so bloodthirsty, Peter! I have just been thinking that a nice, rich, famous, jewel-conferring husband might be quite a comfort," teasingly.

"I tell you I'll shoot him!" savagely.

"Peter!" Then, "You are coming tonight, aren't you? I have everything done."

"Yes, I wouldn't miss going for a thousand worlds. So I'll reserve my threats till then. Good-bye, dear girl!"

Hermione turned away with a troubled look. It had been one of the foundation stones of their friendship—in fact, the very ground itself—that everything between them be frank, homely and purely platonic. No sentiment of any kind allowed. It was so comfortable to have Peter depend upon her. He took her to concerts, lectures, anywhere she wanted to go, kept her up on the evolution of Yuan Shi Kai and the Chinese empire, and discussed both sides of the possible embargo on war supplies. He read her "The Gods of the Mountain" or something of the kind while she darned his socks and sewed on missing buttons. She had insisted on this, "Peter," she had said, "don't throw away your socks if they show a hole or two. Let me mend them. I hadn't dared to tell him the real reason—that the best diet she knew for anti-sentimentalism was plenty of darning. The tone just now had worried her."

Peter arrived at eight with a box of candy and a torn shirt wrapped in a paper, with a suspiciously neat-looking hole between the shoulders.

Hermione seized it with delight. "Peter, whatever will become of you if you keep on wearing out your clothes? I don't see how you wear a hole away up there. It looks almost like a cut!"

"I've been wondering what would become of me if it were not for you, Hermione. I'd be a regular Rip Van Winkle for rags."

She flushed appreciatively. Then a serious look came into her eyes, and when Peter had spread out a new magazine and she had slipped on her thimble, she ventured, "I'm going to ask you something tonight—something serious, yet I don't want you to take it seriously."

He looked amused. He was accustomed to her odd prefaces, however. But he was petrified for an instant beyond reply when she went on hurriedly: "I want to be engaged to you for awhile. Don't think I am taking advantage of leap year, kind friend—no doubt you've had a dozen proposals by this time—at least if you haven't you should have had. But if you aren't promised I wish you would take me, it will only last over the summer until I come back from Sedgwick. Don't you see how it is? If I'm engaged to anyone, they'll let me alone about Dick's lion-taming cousin."

"Dick's lion-taming cousin!"

"Yes, he hunted lions or something in Peru—I mean Africa—and did something else in Japan, and he's very rich, and Anne writes that he'll be there when I am and they will keep him collared and chained so I can get him for my very own so I'll be fixed for life. He's the husband I told you about over the telephone. If I just announce that I'm engaged to somebody else they'll let me alone, and the lion tamer won't think I'm throwing myself at his head either. It will make everything so comfortable, and I'll probably have a good rest and a decent time. Otherwise—well, I just won't go, that's all. So you'd better let me be engaged to you, Peter. Think it over."

Hermione stopped for breath. Peter did not reply immediately. He seemed to be undecided about something, but Hermione, bent over her sewing, did not see the struggle in his face.

"Sure!" he said finally, much as he would have granted a request for a match. "Sure thing, if it will help any. May I ask what may be in the charter of this new corporation?"

"What do you mean?"

"What happens if either party breaks his contract and gets engaged to some one else?"

"Speak only for yourself, Peter. I'll be true to my bargain."

"But you may fall in love with this man from Japan."

"Never!"

"Well, if you do, go ahead and take him, Hermione. That's my advice. I'll never take it to court," emphatically.

She looked up quickly. "After all, Peter, you are letting go easily. I believe you'd rather like to join in this conspiracy and marry me off to that other man."

"To be candid," returned Peter frankly, "nothing would suit me better."

"Here, Peter," she said rising. "The shirt's done and I don't think we'd better read tonight. I—I've a headache and I think I'll go to bed."

She held out her hand. "Good night."

"Good night," he answered gravely, looking searchingly into the brown eyes. "Being engaged doesn't entitle me to a—"

"No, it doesn't," declared Hermione, drawing back a step indignantly. Peter's anxiety to marry her off was still stinging.

Hermione arrived at Sedgwick in another week and luxuriated in the comfortable cottage on the sea bluff, Dick's cousin had not come to her relief, but every day brought nearer the time of his arrival.

Finally the night came that was to be the end of her peace of mind. The others had motored to the station to meet their guest, but Her-

A mile up the beach and a mile back took most of an hour. Coming back she met a man. The moon shone full on his face. "Peter!" she exclaimed, joyfully reaching out both hands.

But Peter's image only lifted his hat courteously. "I beg pardon, but you mistake my identity. Allow me to introduce myself. I am Dick's cousin, the lion hunter, the Peruvian wonder, the man from Japan. Bahold!"

What is Home Without an Heir!

This is a subject that has a place in all minds in all times.

And it naturally directs thought as to the comfort of the mother during that wonderful period of expectation.

Mothers who know recommend "Mother's Friend."

"Mother's Friend" is an external remedy for the stretching muscles, eases them to expand without undue strain, assists the organs to crowd against nerves, to pull at ligaments to thus avoid pain.

Thus restful days are assured, morning sickness, headache, apprehension and other distresses are among the various things escaped by using "Mother's Friend."

And by its effect upon the muscles the form is retained and they return to their natural smooth contour after baby is born.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

Partly because he believes that the silent is a step ahead of the spoken drama, and partly through an intense desire to see himself as others have seen him on the legitimate stage, Edward H. Sothern, foremost Shakespearean actor on the English speaking stage today, is the latest to succumb to the lure of the once-despised movies.

This is regarded as the most important in significance since the movies began to rival the spoken drama in interest. Other legitimate players have deserted the legitimate under the spell of money lure and other considerations, but when a man of Sothern's prominence in theaterdom consents to appear on celluloid, the final breastwork of the enemy is down and the movies can now consider themselves the conqueror of the legitimate.

Fannie Ward in "For the Defense"

Giving another example of her versatility, Fannie Ward, Lasky star, will appear shortly in a photoplay entitled "For the Defense," in which she plays for the first time on the screen the role of a feminine detective.

She will be seen as Fidele, a young French girl, who lands in New York and meets with strange adventures. She is the witness of a murder of which the one man who befriends her in the hostile city is falsely accused. Frightened, she runs away from the scene, meets the accused later and returns in time to appear "for the defense" and by her testimony succeeds in freeing him.

WEATHER

U. S. Weather Bureau
Sunrise tomorrow, 6:19 a. m.
Sunset tomorrow, 6:10 p. m.

Yesterday's Temperatures
High, 38; Low, 31; Precipitation, 0.

Forecasts

For Wisconsin: Probably snow to-night and Tuesday. Colder west portion tonight and south portion Tuesday. Fresh northeast to north winds.

For Minnesota: Snow and colder Tuesday partly cloudy.

For Iowa: Snow and colder to-night; Tuesday unsettled and colder; probably snow northeast portion.

Weather Conditions

A storm is moving off the north Atlantic coast and the pressure is moderately low throughout the west and southwest, but with no well defined storm center. Areas of relatively high pressure are central in the extreme southeast, in Manitoba, and over Oregon.

Rain and snow are falling in the extreme northeast and snow at a few widely scattered stations in the northwest.

Moderate temperatures prevail in all sections.

These conditions indicate light snow and somewhat lower temperature in this section tonight and probably Tuesday.

"Happy" Green in his flying machine winds up about once a week after the fashion of Darius, but while everything else goes to smash this "headless horseman" of the roadhouse circuit seems to bear a charmed neck. The locomotive that severed one of his legs made a grave anatomical blunder.

In 1861 Lincoln called for "75,000 volunteers to serve for three months." The war lasted four years and more than two million men were involved. In 1916—?

"CROSS THE BORDER" FOR "HAPPY GREEN"

"Happy" Green lost a leg in an industrial accident, wherefore he was awarded $10,000. At once "Happy" lost his head as well, and that his drunken joy-rides have not promoted a new cemetery in La Crosse is among the miracles. Amuck in a Main street theater crowd Saturday night, his forty-mile skid through a Barron store window kept a thousand guardian angels on the job.

Something must be done with Green. He is the Villa of our countryside. There can be no security while he is at large with a motor. The depravity of his recklessness concerns us less than the menace of it. Fines will not do. He is impervious to the chastening shock of experience. The court can be depended upon to give him the extreme penalty for his latest outrage, but that only temporizes. Unless legal genius finds some law to divorce this whelp and his car, the citizens of La Crosse will have to "cross the border."

WE NEED SPEED AND "AMERICAN LUCK"

For the second time in two years we have put armed troops into Mexican territory. We withdrew from Vera Cruz within three months, after accomplishing our object of ousting Huerta. Will we be so fortunate in accomplishing our purpose this second time?

The avowed purpose of each of our expeditions is essentially identical. We are in Mexico now pursuing Francisco Villa, an outlaw responsible for the death of a number of Americans and for a violation of American territory. Victoriano Huertahad no more claim to respectability than Villa. He was an outlaw, a usurping tyrant outside of the bounds of international recognition.

Here the analogy between our Mexican expeditions ceases. From this point we are in uncharted territory, and the success of our punitive expedition must be predicated on a different and much more delicate set of conditions than any which complicated the Huerta situation.

When we occupied VeraCruz there was no government in Mexico, respect for which could tie our hands. From every legal standpoint we had a free field in which our order-restoring might was as legitimate as any other factor in the situation. We go into Mexico at this writing under circumstances much more complex. The most dangerous factor of the situation is that we have recognized the Carranza government.

Under international law the rights of every independent nation are equal. Carranza's defacto government is entitled to as much consideration as that of Great Britain or Germany. There could be no question of war, as the term is understood in international law, between the United States and Mexico at the time of the Vera Cruz occupation. There was no government against which this government could conduct hostilities. The control of the situation lay entirely with us. We were at liberty to continue our occupation or to withdraw as we saw fit.

With a recognized government in Mexico, however, the issue of the situation is in great measure not ours to decide. The choice of peace or war is in the hands of Carranza. His hand may be forced.

Carranza is a Mexican. He is responsible to the Mexican people primarily. However much we may feel that he is in sympathy with our effort to punish Villa, it will do us no good to presume that his government will sit quiet. It cannot sit tight if Mexico clamors for war against the "Gringo" invaders. Such a clamor is a painfully possible development.

The most hopeful chance of averting a Mexican war, with its disastrous effect upon Pan-Americanism and our relations with Latin-America, lies in speed. If we can catch Villa quickly, and retire before Mexico is ablaze, the extremity may be avoided. Unsettled condition in Mexico, its comparatively primitive state of communication, give a not too gloomy color to this possibility.

May American luck lendwings to the heels of Funston's men!

Always consult an architect

—he is a "clearing house" of building experiences

Just as you respect the vast amount of work and care it has taken for you to succeed in your business, so you should respect the architect in his business. As an originator and a "clearing house" of building ideas and experiences—gained from putting up many buildings, also from studying the trend of building laws and future needs of housekeeping, he arranges the building so that it shall later suit other folks in case you sell or rent.

Why architecture depends upon comfort

You may build in the joyous Spring-time or Summer, and think only of porches and screens, but the architect always keeps before him a vision of the grim Winter Kings. He knows that when the bitter cold days come, any occupied building will be a failure that is not cleanly, healthfully, genially warmed by coal-economizing radiator heating. These outfits change houses into homes, change barn-like stores into pleasant shops!

Wherein architects save heating costs

The architect will more than earn his fee by alone making the radiator heating outfit cost you nothing, through omitting from the plans the extra chimneys, needless mantels, useless inner doors, double window sash, weather strips, storm doors, etc.

Architects study future values for you

Those who build hope for the neighborhood to improve and value to increase. The architect helps you to study keenly the future of the locality. He will prove to you that property modernized with IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators will

No one accepting such large responsibilities charges so little as does the architect—for his is largely a profession of public service. You should therefore take advantage of his "clearing house" of ideas and experiences by consulting him and let him show you at any of our public showrooms the pattern and size of IDEAL Boiler and AMERICAN Radiators that will exactly fit your building needs and which will burn the kind of fuel most abundantly and cheaply available in your locality.

readily command a larger loan from bankers; or, you can sell property quicker and get full money back; or 10% to 15% higher rental and from better satisfied tenants, who stay long.

Proofs of lowest-priced heating

The testimony of a million owners at home and abroad prove the fuel economy. There is absence of repairs—no wearing out—the screwed-tight joints prevent ash-dust and soot damages to furnishings and decorations. These outfits are simplest to run and property earns lowest insurance rate. IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are the best that money can buy, pay for themselves! Fully guaranteed.

Architects know how this heating pays!

The IDEAL Heating outfit is the only equipment put into a building that will never be worth less than you pay for it, and will repeatedly repay by 100 years of service its original cost, through fuel and labor savings and absence of repairs. Can you possibly invest money better or more safely than this?

SOCIETY

ST. PATRICK'S ENTERTAINMENT
The children of St. Mary's school will give a St. Patrick's Day entertainment at the school Thursday afternoon at three o'clock and will repeat the performance at eight o'clock Thursday evening. The ladies of the church will serve a supper at the school hall Thursday night from five to eight o'clock.

JOINT BIRTHDAY OBSERVANCE

The birthdays of the Misses Rose Hass and Florine Reysen, both residents at the Y. W. C. A., falling upon the same day, Saturday, the two young ladies "got together" in a joint observance of the event, and entertained a party of friends at the parlors of the association building Saturday night. Games furnished amusement during the evening and refreshments were served, a pretty, as well as tempting, feature of which were the two birthday cakes. In the party were the Misses Clara Miller, Margaret McCarthy, Elsie Peterson, Margaret Gilbertson, Maude Ahlstrom, Clara Zastrow, Carrie Thompson, Marion Snaith, Sophie Knutson, Eva Stafford, Katherine Chambers, Gwen Dawson, Mollie Fredericksen, Alma Daegle, Esther Roder and Ada Ganschow and Mrs. Mary Dawson.

MADISON WOMAN

ADDRESSES LEAGUE
Miss Mary McGovern, of Madison, addressed the members of the La Crosse Catholic Women's league at its regular meeting at St. Mary's hall on Thursday evening. The subject of Miss McGovern's address was "Some Necessary Adaptations for the Modern Catholic Woman." It was a stirring appeal to Catholic women to fit themselves in their respective localities, for work along lines of social service. She spoke of three types of women—the mother in the home, the woman in the business and professional world and the young woman about to become a factor in the life-work she shall choose.

Miss McGovern has made a special study of the conditions surrounding young men in state reformatory at Green Bay and she spoke of the needs and possibilities of reform in penal institutions. She commended the work being done in a disciplinary way but said in substance, that there was a lack of personal touch—that what those young unfortunates have failed to find in their former homes and environments must be supplied in our institutions if they are to be reclaimed as useful members of society. Every city and every community has its own work to perform along social lines—to know these conditions and not to assume to be true what we do not know, is a prerequisite to intelligent service. Miss McGovern is not a theorist but is intensely practical. Her talk was certainly inspiring and left an impression which cannot but be beneficial.

The program for the evening opened with a trio, "Ave Maria," by Donizetti, sung by Miss Celia Volz, Mrs. Dennigan and Mr. Bernard Volz, and closed with a vocal solo by Mrs. Dennigan. The next meeting of the league will be held Thursday afternoon, March 23, at St. Mary's hall.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

John E. Olson, 316 Caledonia street, was host to a party of friends on Thursday evening in observance of his twenty-fifth birthday. Refreshments were served and an enjoyable time was spent by all. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Olson, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Olson and son Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Mettelle, Misses Clara and Marie Mettelle, and Messrs. Laurie, Oscar, Alford and Raymond Olson and Eugene Mettelle, Jr.

PICNIC SUPPER

There was a delightful little supper party Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Mary Austin on Sixteenth street, the guests being members of the "picnic supper" crowd. The affair was in the nature of a housewarming and also complimentary to Mrs. Hattie Austin Hill, of Chicago. After a delicious supper the guests joined in the singing of old-time songs. Among those present were Mrs. and Miss Sill, Mrs. M. E. Eaton, Mrs. Mary Shadbolt, Mrs. David Austin, Mrs. Alex McMichael, Mrs. Robert Whelpley and Mrs. Hill.

WESLEYAN CONCERT

On Wednesday evening of this week the Wesleyan Glee club of the German Methodist church, will invade the neighboring city of Winona. The occasion is the coming concert of the glee club which will be presented in the Gate City, the club now being busily engaged in putting the finishing touches on an unusually strong program. Professor James Ross Kerr, under whose direction the concert will be given, Paul T. Schultze and Elmer Thiel will be the soloists and D. Hoffschield is the accompanist. A considerable number of the members of the church have signified their intention of accompanying the club and efforts are being made to secure a special coach, which will be attached to train No. 5 on the Milwaukee.

SURPRISE PARTIES

Mr. J. Sokolik was pleasantly surprised by a party of friends Saturday evening at his home, 803 South Ninth street, upon the occasion of his birthday. Refreshments were served at eleven o'clock. Those present were John Dvorak, Joseph Trisch, Vit Spika, Mat Spika, John Stejskal, Frank Sokolik, Joseph Papacek, Joseph Vsetecaka, George Sokolik, Fran Matuska and Frank Lohstetter.

On Saturday a number of friends invaded the home of Mrs. Henry Lintelman, 1128 Pine street, and took complete possession, their purpose being to assist her in the observance of her birthday. Progressive cinch was played, prizes being taken by Mrs. W. Layman and B. O'Rourke, Misses Laura and Gertrude Yandt and Messrs. R. Yandt and R. Buchda. Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames J. Reichgelt, R. Yandt, M. Sweeney, R. Buchda, W. Layman, H. Ott and H. Lintelman, Mesdames B. O'Rourke and E. Erickson, Misses Laura and Gertrude Yandt, Anna Layman, Kaser and Mayme Reichgelt and Messrs. Leroy Reichgelt, C. Desner and Fred Lintelman.

GOLDEN WEDDING.

In honor of the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Roubillard, 1545 Berlin street, were pleasantly surprised by a party of friends at their home Saturday afternoon. The guests included the firemen from Station No. 4 and the Mesdames Louis Feistad, Joseph Maynard, Mary E. Baker, Dora O'Neill, Frank Bull and Nellie Jewett, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Winnell and Mesdames D. H. Baker and Bert Webster of Dresbach. The golden wedding couple were presented with several potted plants, two pots of daffodils and a large one containing an assortment of plants. The ladies spent the afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Roubillard, while the fire fighters arrived in time to partake of the bountiful lunch served by the ladies.

WOMEN TO STUDY WORK OF MISSIONS.

The Woman's Auxiliary of Christ's Episcopal church is making arrangements for a three-day mission study class. The sessions will be held in the church chapel on March 13, 14 and 15. They will be conducted by Miss Mary Clarkson, educational secretary of the Milwaukee branch Women's auxiliary. Sessions will be held in the morning from 10 until 11:30 o'clock and in the afternoon from 3:30 until 5 o'clock. The meetings are open to the public.

SOCIAL FEATURES

ENHANCE DEBATES.
The new social affairs of the high school debating clubs have eliminated their dry and staid nature in the eyes of students, with the result that one society has reached the limit of its membership and the other will soon be filled to overflowing. Friday night the Wendell-Phillips gave its first banquet in years, which concluded with a talk by Mr. Earnst on the "Values of Debating." The society then adjourned to their room where a short debate was held on the degeneracy of the new fashions. Crider and McLachlan gave an interesting dialogue in the auditorium and dancing lessons were given by the experienced. The L. D. debated on the advisability of co-membership and Bunge and Boyle convinced the judges that such a policy should be adopted. Carleton and Risberg championed the present policy.

Says "Intuition" is Merely Matter of "Hit or Miss"

SAN FRANCISCO—California clubwomen are in a buzz of indignation over the assertions of a prominent psychologist that feminine intuition, that rare gem which through the centuries has been believed to flash truth and wisdom without the red tape of logic, has been tested and found wanting. The scientist who brings this charge is Dr. J. E. De Camp of the department of psychology of the University of California. The professor does allow that perhaps a brilliant flash of insight or understanding, overlapping the tedium of cold reasoning, may come to a woman in an instant while a man goes through painful gymnastics to arrive at the same conclusion. But it is a case of hit or miss with the woman, he says. But Dr. De Camp, although coming in for severe criticism, has not lost all of his feminine friends, for he has propounded the fact that the brain of woman is in every respect the equal of man's, the only difference being in the matter of weight.

Sets New Mark For Women Swimmers.

Philadelpia—Miss Olga Doerfer of this city, has established a new record for swimming. In the 220-yard free-style championship for women, she easily outdistanced all competitors and covered the distance in 3 minutes 5 1-5 seconds. Miss Mabel Arkley of this city won

BORAH WARNS WAR MAY COME BESIDE MEXICAN TROUBLE

Refers to President's Utterance and Chamberlain Says Villa Will Have 60,000 Men

WASHINGTON, March 13.—If President Wilson formally accepts Carranza's demand that his troops be given a "reciprocal" right to enter American territory, he will lose most of the republican support his program has received so far, it was declared today. Chairman Stone is understood to agree with Senators Fall and Borah, republican chiefs. These senators will insist that the president has no right to enter into such an agreement except by treaty, which means he must have the two-thirds approval of the upper branch. Such support the president never can get, republicans say.

Think It Is War

"If we think we will whip Mexico in a few weeks we will be woefully surprised," declared Chairman Chamberlain of the senate military committee during a warm debate on the Mexican situation in the senate this afternoon.

"I believe Villa will become the national hero. Sixty thousand men may rally about him."

"The United States has entered into an enterprise the future of which no man can forecast," said Senator Borah.

"We may have started a train of events the results of which we cannot foresee. And wherever these events lead us, we must face the consequences."

Fears a Bigger War

"The Mexican situation is not the only one that bids us to be prepared. There are situations which it would neither be wise nor proper for me to discuss now, but our president tells us he cannot tell what tomorrow may bring."

"How are we to meet these situations? How meet the events which may come from this invasion of Mexico? We are not ready. Let us face the situation. We must prepare."

GERMAN LOSSES AT VERDUN 200,000 CLAIM OF FRENCH

PARIS, March 13.—German losses in the first three weeks of the Verdun offensive were estimated at 200,000 in an official statement issued by the French war office today.

RELIEF FORCES LOSE HEAVILY AT KUT-EL-AMARA

BERLIN, March 13.—The British loss of 5,000 men in an unsuccessful attempt to relieve the Kut-El-Amara garrison, according to an official statement from the Turkish war office, telegraphed here today.

WILSON MAY VETO WATER POWER GRAB

WASHINGTON, March 13.—President Wilson has promised to take a hand in the fight over the Shields water powerbill, denounced by conservationists as vicious. In a letter to Representative Kent of California the president said: "It is better to let the water power run to waste than to settle the use of it in the wrong way." His letter intimates a veto for the Shields bill unless it is radically amended.

BABY BOY DEAD

John Larkin, 18 months old son of Mrs. Bertha Larkin, died at his home at 7 o'clock Sunday morning. The funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, 1528 Prospect street.

BIG MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN UNDER WAY AT Y. M. C. A.

captains: H. A. Freehoff, C. H. Schweizer, W. A. Pryor, F. A. Reimann, Arthur Bangsberg, Henry Seiler, C. J. Johnson, John Beranek, George Howd, Thomas Sutherland, Curtis Doering, C. Klavitter, A. Verket, W. Romanosky, Harry Johnson, Lewis Hafner, Howard Oaks, Leif Schreiner, Richard Zeisler, Roy Falk, Tracy Johnson, H. W. Rennebohm, Theo. Gardner, Forrest Cloy.

Division "C"

"Hustler" Killian, "Big Moose" Roberge, captains: F. P. Marles, Dr. G. R. Reay, Henry Zeisler, O. W. Muenster, Carl Scheel, Theo. Solle, Irwin Sheldon, John Weiss, H. L. Woods, Merle Hagen, Donald Dean, Ole Espenes, Gus Pappas, Henry Kienahs, E. E. Hagedahl, Thomas R. Gibson, Henry Otten, Harry Livingston, Alfred Zeisler, O. J. Ash, Wm. King, Edward Peterson, A. H. Anderson, Edward Fox.

Big Prize Offered

More men will be added to each group as the campaign progresses. Not desiring prizes themselves, but realizing what an impetus these would mean to the hundred of young men in the association to put forth their efforts in the securing of their friends to join during this "Join the Y" Week" campaign, a number of the friends of the association were appealed to and as a result $100 in prizes will be offered to the contestants securing the largest number of points in the week's effort.

Points count as follows:
B. M. C. Memb. to Oct. 1, 1916, $6.00, six points.
Senior member to Oct. 1, 1916, $5.50, 5 1/2 points.
Intermediate member to Oct. 1, 1916, $3.40, three and one-half points.
Junior member to Oct. 1, 1916, 2 1/2 points.

Work boys member to Oct. 1, 1916, $2.60, 2 1/2 points.
Non-resident student, three months $3.00, 3 points, and one point for each dollar paid on any new membership.

The Prize List

To the contestant securing the largest number of points a $35 bicycle will be given. L. W. King, opposite the Y. M. C. A., has provided this premium. To the second in points in the contest, the Continental Clothing house will provide a $30 suit of material to measure clothes. The third in the fight for honors will be rewarded with a $25 Victrola from C. B. Noelke. To the one who trails fourth in the struggle, a $5 pair of shoes will be fitted by Wm. F. Strauss, who holds forth the sign of the kangaroo on Pearl street. The palate of the fifth man in the gigantic struggle for achievement will be gladdened and delighted with five pounds of chocolates provided through the best wishes of the Joseph B. Funke company.

The Rules

The rules that have been adopted by the captains to govern the campaign are as follows:

1. No membership counted unless one-third of dues accompany same.
2. No membership to count unless payment in full is guaranteed within 60 days.
3. No membership to count unless turned in with payment at office within 48 hours after securing same.
4. Credits are not transferable. In case of disputed points, the credits shall be given on decision of applicant.
5. All memberships secured by employment shall be equally apportioned by points to each division, but shall not be credited in individual prize campaign. No employee of Y. M. C. A. can compete for prizes offered.
6. Standings of each division and each individual shall be posted in Y. M. C. A. lobby at noon each day.
7. Prizes shall be awarded by April 1 at a social evening to which all new members shall be invited.
8. Proper honors shall be given to division captains and their men for securing largest number of points in campaign at the social evening.

A number of new activities, to begin immediately after the close of the campaign, has already been planned. Among the features are included a position tournament in hand ball, a billiard tournament and tournament in volleyball, indoor baseball, checkers, chess, etc. An "every-member-a-swimmer" campaign will also be put on during the month of May, and every member will have the opportunity of receiving tank instruction.

Starts With Supper

The campaign starts off this evening with a supper for all who are called upon to partake in the work and any who wish to volunteer. About a hundred men are expected

GET IT FIRST—NOT LAST

When a cold grips your system it is convincing proof that your condition is weakened—remember that. It is risky indeed to simply trust your strength to throw it off, because neglected colds have brought more serious sickness than any other one thing, while weakening cathartics and stimulating syrups are often depressing and dangerous. The one best treatment for any cold—the one so often relied on when others fail, is the powerful blood-nourishment in Scott's Emulsion, which feeds the very sources of bodily strength to suppress the present cold and generate strength to thwart further sickness. Get Scott's first, not last—and insist on the genuine—always free from alcohol and injurious drugs.

BREAK OF WINTER SLOWS UP TRAVEL

All Trains Are Late and Root River Bridge Wash-out Near Lanesboro Sends S. M. Trains on Detour

Winter is breaking up, and the train service into La Crosse felt it today. Most of the trains were late, and all the others were running slow over tracks in many cases weakened by incipient wash-outs from the thousands of snow-water rivulets breaking from the hills.

The Root river bridge near Lanesboro, Minn., was washed away early this morning. All trains on the Southern Minnesota of the Milwaukee road are running over the Reno? Preston branch.

Snow and warm weather in the mountainous regions along the roadway of the Milwaukee road are the cause of all coast trains being from one to twelve hours late. No. 16 which arrives here at 3:35, arrived at 10:35, about seven hours late. No. 18 will not arrive today, being twelve hours late. No. 18 arrives here at 1:50. The Burlington road reported only one of their coast trains late. No. 52 which arrives here at 12:01 is five hours late.

The members of the Thursday Afternoon Croquet club and husbands, surprised J. G. Dubraks at his home, 1611 Avon street, Saturday evening in honor of his birthday. The evening was spent in playing cards. A delicious lunch was served, after which Mr. Schmidt in behalf of the guests presented Mr. Dubraks with a smoking table. Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames A. Schmidt, William Weibacker, J. E. Eldridge, Earl Harris, T. Thatrow, William Grebner and Oscar Hoff; Mesdames C. C. Fletcher, Earl Wheaton, and M. A. Chilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Skjoberg, La Crescent, spent the week end with north side friends and relatives.

The members of North La Crosse F. and A. M., No. 190, surprised Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Roubelard, 1545 Berlin street, the occasion being their fiftieth wedding anniversary. They were presented with cut flowers.

Rev. Finch A. Clarke, in behalf of the members, presented Mr. and Mrs. Roubelard with a piece of gold. The evening was spent in cards. A light lunch was served to the guests.

Mrs. John Morginfin, Sparta, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Hansen, 1514 Caledonia street.

Miss Ruth Rynning has returned to Galeville after spending the weekend at her home, 1418 Charles.

Jacob Ficht, who has been sick at his home, 1643 Loomis street, is recovering.

Miss Dorothy Brown has returned to her home in Winona after spending a few days at the home of Mrs. L. B. Fauver, 317 Mill street.

Miss Anna Dell Herrington has returned to Trempealeau after spending a few days at her home, 1536 Avon street.

Miss Jennette Hart, 333 Mill street is visiting friends and relatives in McGregor.

Miss May Johnson has returned to her home, 1416 George street, after spending the past few days at Prairie du Chien.

Mrs. George Grant McClenock has returned to her home in West Salem, after spending a few days at the home of Mrs. Josephine Gullickson, 1352 Caledonia street.

at this affair. Several hundred names of prospective members have been listed and the campaign will approximate these names among themselves to solicitation.

The membership of the Y. M. C. A. is now within a few of being eight hundred and if the campaign is successful it ought to pass the thousand mark.

At High Point Now Secretary Gran said that the membership is at the highest point now it has been at this time of the year any year since the new building was opened. In 1911 with the membership at 800 in April, a campaign was put on which brought in close to 200 new members and the figure passed a thousand before the year closed.

INTENSE ARTILLERY BATTLES DEVELOP AROUND FORT VAUX

French Believe Gun Fire Is Prelude to Increased Attacks on Verdun Defenses

BERLIN, March 13.—Artillery firing on the east bank of the Meuse, extending as far as the Moselle river, is increasing in intensity, the war office reported this afternoon. It was announced that French attacks in Le Pretre woods were repulsed.

PARIS, March 13.—French troops stormed and captured more than two hundred yards of German trenches in the Carnes forest, taking twenty prisoners, the war office announced this afternoon.

The official statement reported intense German bombardment in the regions of Douaumont, Bethincourt, the Woivre and Le Pretre woods, but no infantry attacks north of Verdun last night.

French war planes dropped thirty bombs on the railway station at Conans, returning unharmed, the war office reported. Elsewhere no important operations occurred last night.

German airmen bombed the Clermont-Verdun railway stations, the war office announced. In the Champagne and Verdun regions four enemy aeroplanes have been destroyed in the last twenty-four hours.

LONDON, March 13.—The whole region northeast, east and southeast of Verdun fortress is shaking under terrific artillery fire. The struggle is extending along a curving fifty mile front southeast of the citadel, according to official statements from the German and French war offices this afternoon. It is considered almost certain that this entire front is about to break out in heavy infantry actions.

LONDON, March 13.—The battle of Verdun entered its fourth week today, with reports of intense artillery battles around Forts Douaumont and around Vaux, and at Bethincourt on the west bank of the Meuse, evidently in preparation for heavy infantry attacks.

The Germans searched out the French front all day Sunday with a terrific hail of steel projectiles. The French accepted the cannonading as the forerunner of renewed attempts against Fort Vaux and the positions northwest of Verdun and made ready to meet the assaults.

Dispatches from Berlin today contained the first admission from German sources that the Teutons no longer hold Vaux fort. An official statement two days ago admitted that the French by counter attacks had gained a foothold in the fort. Major Moraht, military critic of the Berlin Tagblatt, reports that the Posen reservists, who occupied Fort Vaux, were driven out but expresses the hope that their repulse is only temporary.

Paris dispatches brought a detailed account of the fighting for Fort Vaux. They credited the Germans with great bravery but repeated the official claim that no German soldier entered the fort itself.

The Posen troops first charged the French positions about Vaux village. After engaging the French at this point, Posen and Bavarian regiments advanced toward the fort, which stands 300 feet above the surrounding plain, attacking first the outer redoubts on the Meuse ridges.

"French artillery officers say they never saw German generals sacrifice lives so recklessly," said one dispatch. "Time without number the German columns debouched from their trenches and rushed to attack in lines four deep, only to be smothered by the French fire. French six-inch and eight inch shells exploded right on top of the marching columns and when the smoke and dust cleared nothing was left but a mass of piled bodies."

"From the bastions of Fort Vaux, the ground drops 300 feet to 200 yards. The spur on which the fort stands is in many places almost perpendicular. The main German lines were forced to halt but many Bavarians from reserve regiments struggled up the slope amid a hail of bullets. They climbed up on one another's shoulders, hanging to angles of rock, grasping tufts of grass. Time and again the human pyramid they formed collapsed into a shapeless gray mass. In places where the slope was easier and the attack more concentrated the ditches ran red."

"Finally the German officers called a halt to the butchery and the fighting was stopped. The enemy must, at the lowest estimate, have lost more than two-thirds of his attacking force."

FIRE IN PRESIDIO MAY BE CONNECTED WITH BORDER ISSUE

MONTEREY, Cal., March 13.—The headquarters building at the United States Presidio here was badly damaged by fire today. Important army records were destroyed, together with the telephone and telegraph exchanges. While defective wiring was rumored to have been the cause of the fire officials were investigating the possibility that it was connected with the Mexican crisis.

Ammunition stored in the building exploded giving rise to bomb rumors. The property loss was $4,000. Lack of wind prevented the flames spreading to other structures.

Bureau in the numerous radio-active pharmaceutical preparations, which are submitted to them for testing.
Many manufacturers are taking advantage of the popular interest in the new substance to put forward all sorts of medicines and devices containing the magic word, "radium".

Typical of the mechanical devices offered is a radio-glove, which is intended to cure rheumatism of the hand. It consists of three compartments, two of which are filled with reddish earth which is believed to be a radium ore. The radiations from this material enters the hand when the glove is worn. Cans of "Radio-earth" which are to be made into plasters for outside application have also been sent in. Some of these devices contain very appreciable amounts of radium, others contain a mere trace.

The Bureau of Standards can only test these preparations and devices and report on their radio-activity. It is not within its jurisdiction to express an opinion of their therapeutic value. Most of them contain at least a small amount of radium and show some radio-activity. It is believed, however, that many of them have not enough radio-activity to be of real value, and that they have done a great deal to destroy faith in the really remarkable powers of radium.

Radium Waters
The demand for radium waters

has also called forth an abundant supply of devices for making them in the house. These have come before the Bureau. One of these is a jar containing a small piece of porous baked clay containing radium, which imparts the desired quality to the water, that is, it gives up a small amount of radium emanation; another jar contains a minute quantity of radium enclosed in a crystal cell. Although the quantity of emanation given off to the water is exceedingly small, so that the radium within will last a very long time, it is nevertheless much greater than is found in actual mineral waters. Mineral waters supposed to have radio-activity also are sometimes sent to the Bureau to be tested. This branch of the work is not encouraged because most of the waters will have lost much of their activity before they arrive. In most cases their strengths decrease one-half in four days.

Radium is a metal, a chemical element, belonging to a remarkable class of substances which have the quality of disintegrating atomically to form new substances. To the lay mind, this seems almost a realization of the alchemist's dream. To the scientist it is a simple and comprehensible process, consisting in the disintegration of the atoms, and the re-aggregation of their parts in new forms.

Eventually Becomes Lead
This disintegration and formation of new substances proceeds through a regular series. In the case of radium uranium is supposed to be the starting point. Uranium becomes ionium, which becomes radium, and radium after passing through a number of transformations is believed finally to become lead.

Each disintegration is accompanied by a release of energy, that is, by the emission of radiations. The atoms of radioactive substances explode and in so doing shoot off small particles having enormous velocities, in some cases even exceeding 100,000 miles per second. These explosions set up disturbances similar to X-rays. They are known as gamma rays, have extreme penetrating power, and give radium its value in the treatment of cancer.

Changes Very Slowly
Although continually disintegrating, it will require 1700 years for any given lot of radium to become reduced to one-half its present amount.

Every civilized nation is making efforts to discover radium ores or waters within its boundaries. The latest reported discoveries of this sort are the radium springs of Japan, which are claimed by the Japanese to be the strongest in the world.
The strength of these springs is measured in "Mache units", of which the spring at Yamanashi is said to be impregnated with 800. Three Mache units is about the amount of radium emanation that is associated with the billionth part of a gram of radium. If a grain of wheat were divided among the inhabitants of the world, each man, woman and child would receive several Machu units.
So Japan's spring has not got much radium after all. No way of using the minute particles of radium contained in mineral waters has yet been devised, except by drinking or bathing in the water.

Radium Everywhere
A number of experiments have been made in the use of radium ores for fertilizer; but practically without success. Most soil contains about three milligrams of radium to the acre-foot. An experiment in Illinois consisted in adding $100 worth of radium ores to the acre. This added about one milligram per acre-foot but had no effect on the productivity of the soil.

A large amount of radium is being produced by the very successful co-operation between the Radium Institute of America and the United States Bureau of Mines. The Institute has turned over its Colorado ore lands to the Bureau and advanced $150,000 to be used in studying the extraction of radium from its ores.
The radium produced is divided between two hospitals, and may not be sold. Six grams of radium were produced last year at a cost of $37,599 per gram. The market price is $120,000 per gram. As this would indicate, the Bureau has greatly simplified and improved methods of extraction. The process is one of almost inconceivable delicacy as the ore contains the metal in so minute
a proportion as one part in 200, 000,000. Yet the government nitric acid process extracts ninety per cent of the radium content from the ores, whereas fifty per cent was formerly considered satisfactory.

This increased production means,
in the opinion of physicians, not only a wider, but a more effective use of radium. They believe that larger quantities will greatly increase its value in the treatment of cancer, and the use of radium is the only method that seems to hold any hope of a specific cure for that fatal disease.

No Submarine Was Sighted; Say Havre Dispatches;
Theory Advanced a
Mine Was Struck

PARIS, March 13.—Press dispatches from Havre today cast some doubt on the first reports that the Norwegian bark Silius, aboard which were seven Americans, was torpedoed without warning.

No submarine was sighted, the dispatches said, though the majority of the crew believed a submersible attacked the Silius. Others expressed the opinion that the Silius struck one of the mines the Germans are known to have been sowing off the French coast.

No New Facts at Capital
WASHINGTON, March 13.—The state department today had no new facts as to the sinking of the bark Silius. The consul general at Havre has been asked for details. His first report said the Silius had been torpedoed. If this is confirmed, officials admitted today the situation may be more serious than that with Mexico.

Secretary Lansing was to leave tonight for a week at Pinehurst, N. C.
In his absence Counsellor Polk and the president will handle the Silius case.

Only One Little Cry.
My little daughter, having a little boy playmate who was scornful of anyone who cried, tried always to be as brave as he. One day she had

When I asked her if it hurt her she said: "Yes, mamma, but I didn't cry.
Just one little cry fell out, but I wiped it right off."—Chicago Tribune.

No Poverty in Bermuda.
A feature of life in Bermuda which always impresses the stranger is the apparent prosperity of the natives, white and colored alike. Distressing poverty is unknown, and even the poorest families can boast of a stone house and a garden.

The Drug, Caffeine, In Coffee Is A Habit-Forming Agent

Bulletin 393, U. S. Department of Agriculture, entitled "Habit-Forming Agents," referring to caffeine and other ingredients used in the manufacture of certain soft drinks, headache mixtures, etc., says:

"Until recently it was claimed by some that these agents were harmless and did not belong to the habit-forming group. Later investigations, however, clearly show that this position is unwarranted."

The average cup of coffee contains about 2½ grains of caffeine. Mothers give it to their children and wives give it to their husbands—unconscious of the harm coffee does to health.

When the nerves cry out, or indigestion, biliousness, headache or heart flutter begin to trouble, it's time to look to the cause.

An easy, sure way out of coffee troubles is to quit the coffee, and use

ALPINISTS ENGAGE IN AVALANCHE WARFARE AGAINST AUSTRIANS

By HENRY WOOD.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
ROME, March 13.—After a lull of several months, the Italians have suddenly become intensely active along the whole front. Formidable artillery actions are now occurring on the Carso plateau and the renewal of the Italian onslaught on Goritz is believed immediately.
Advances from the front today reported daily infantry actions around the Goritz bridge-head. Heavy fighting has occurred in the past eight days. The Italians are making daily infantry attacks against the entrenched camp of Podgora, before Goritz. They have captured several trenches and are tightening the ring about the bridge-head position.
The Austrians are hurrying up reinforcements.
Avalanche warfare, inaugurated by Italian Alpinists, is now being waged successfully by both sides along the Tyrolean front.

der to the war department in the meantime to indicate that General Funston's forces had moved.
President Wilson was to confer with Secretary Lansing at 2 o'clock and frame a reply to Carranza's note relative to American troops entering Mexico. It will sent immediately.
Believe Proposal Fair
Friends of the president and congressmen, who called at the White House during the morning, expressed the view that Carranza's proposal was a fair one and that the belief prevails that it will be accepted.
It is also believed the president could accept Carranza's co-operation without any action by the senate. The situation in Mexico, however, caused some uneasiness in official circles. The report of General Funston that he would move deliberately until he was sure of his ground, was accepted as a proper procedure, owing to the unsettled state of negotiations between this country and Carranza. Fear is expressed that even should Carranza's note be accepted, Villa may spread reports

FEEBLE OLD PEOPLE

Are Held How to Regain Strength and Vigor.
Mrs. James A. Smith of Oakland, Cal., says: "My husband, now eighty-two years of age, is a retired Veteran of the Navy, and he has been strengthened and benefited a great deal by Vinol. My long experience with first class physicians and nurses enables me to discriminate in medicines, and I must say Vinol has proved its wonderful qualities to relieve and strengthen the whole system under very trying circumstances. When the blood is thin and needs strengthening, and to build up a depleted system, nothing equals Vinol."
Nothing equals Vinol to strengthen old people because the tonic iron, the medicinal properties of fresh cods' livers, beef peptone and mild native wine which it contains are the very elements needed to rebuild wasting tissue and create strength.
We ask every feeble, aged person in La Crosse to try a bottle of Vinol, with the understanding that we will return their money if it fails.

CHURCH PUBLICITY ON SECOND SUNDAY REPEATS SUCCESS

Even Larger Attendance Is Reported from Most of the Churches Yesterday
ALL SPEAK OF SABBATH KEEPING Varying Angles of Sunday Observance Are Discussed by Pastors of Associated Churches
Church advertising repeated yesterday.
On the second Sunday of the "go-to-church-every-Sunday" campaign there was an even larger attendance than that which bulked the walls of the churches the week before. Practically every church in the city, it was said today, surpassed last week's attendance records. In all there were scores of new faces, to indicate that the church publicity has begun to reach out.
The pastors yesterday spoke on the general topic of Sabbath observance. The topic was the same in all of the thirteen associated churches, each pastor, however, choosing a different text.
Need Weekly Rest
Rev. J. E. Watson, of the West Avenue M. E. church, declared:
"The need of the regular recurrence of the Sabbath rest is embedded in human nature. The proportion of time is in harmony with man's constitution, and it is not necessary because it is commanded but it is commanded because it is necessary."
At the First German Methodist church, Rev. J. E. Klaus asserted that "the Sabbath for man does not mean license but liberty, liberty as consonant with law. The final settling of the question is between a man and God. There we are to remember: 'If a man serve me, him will My Father honor'."
The National Need
At the First Baptist church, Rev. W. J. Peacock made much of the national need for sacred things.
"It is a far cry," he said, "from the Jewish Sabbath to a nation which does not know a sacred thing when it sees it. He referred to a flag torn down from a church as a peculiar indictment of the same sort of ignorance which does not know whether to stand during the national anthem or to laugh at a person who does know."
Any Clean Activity All Right
"Any clean activity may be enjoyed on Sunday," declared Rev. George R. Longbrake at St. Paul's Universalist church. Only remember that we are not all physical, not all body. We have minds, which should have due attention. And we should not forget that we are souls, children of God."
Rev. B. C. Brandenburg, of the Second German Methodist church spoke on the general theme, accenting in particular the sanctity of the day and paying attention to the religious aspect of all of one's life.
Man Greater Than Day
At the Tabernacle Baptist church, Professor H. N. Sherwood said:
"The Sabbath for man is a fact which needs a lot of emphasis. Man, as a child of God, is greater than a day."
At the First Methodist church, to sound stronger than perhaps intended.
Suggests Neutral Zone
The attorney general was called into conference by the president at 11:30 today. It is understood Attorney General Gregory favors an arrangement between this government and Mexico whereby a neutral zone may be established, embracing a territory twenty miles inland on each side, from one end of the border to the other.
Over this zone the troops of both governments may be allowed to pass at any time in pursuit of bandits without entering into formalities. Belief prevails that such arrangements could be made without permission of congress.
Senators Stone and Saulsbury of the foreign relations committee also conferred with the president relative to whether senate action will be necessary in case this government enters into agreement with Carranza.
Feeling Causes Concern
Increased opposition among Mexicans of all factions, on both sides of the border, to entry of American troops, added a new tone of gravity to the situation.
All reports, from army officials and agents of the treasury, state and justice departments, brought word of increased anti-American feeling. Assignment of troops to patrol duty, especially opposite Nogales and at El Paso, was regarded significant.
Sympathy For Carranza
Some administration officials today expressed sympathy with Carranza's demands. They declared that the bellicose tone of Carranza's manifesto, with its hint of possible war between Mexico and the United States was largely for home consumption. It was regarded as designed to meet Mexican popular opinion, opposing "invasion" or "intervention" and to give Carranza legal and moral grounds for consenting to American operations.
Another more ominous view of Carranza's proclamation, which may be regarded as offensive in tenor, was that Carranza may be establishing a pose which, in case of difficulties with the United States, would make him the popular hero instead of Villa.

Wants Rights Respected

"The constitutional government has given instructions to its confidential agent at Washington immediately to make representations that under no circumstances will any motive, whatever be the reasons or explanations of the United States that they may, justify the armed invasion of Mexican territory without reciprocal rights being granted to the Mexicans and that not for an instant will the invasion of Mexican territory or an outrage of its dignity be tolerated.
"I am sure that in this I interpret the national sentiment and that the Mexican people will worthily comply with their duty, be the sacrifices what they may, to sustain their rights and sovereignty.
"If unfortunately we are dragged into a war which the United States never can justify, we will not be responsible for the disastrous consequences. Upon the heads of the Mexican traitors within and without our country who have labored long to produce this result will fall the inexorable justice of the Mexican people."
Prepared for "home consumption" it was said, and with the realization that a large portion of Mexicans are illiterate and do not understand the language of diplomacy, it was made

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have
Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician
Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, you will know them by their olive color.
These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter that one's system collects.
If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.
Thousands of women as well as men, take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel—10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

PRESIDENT HOLDS TENTATIVE PEACE TERMS OF BERLIN

WASHINGTON, March 13.—President Wilson, it is understood on good authority, has in hand, without any definite view to make of them, the peace terms that are likely to be heard from Berlin if the crown prince takes Verdun. Colonel House shortly after his return from Germany, it is said, laid before the president Germany's tentative proposals as modified by recent months of warfare. Colonel House did not go to Berlin to discuss possible peace terms but it is said he did receive an outline of the German view of a proper settlement following the end of the war.
The terms Germany would consider, confirmed by high German authority here, provide:
That German colonies taken by the entente allies be returned to Germany.
That no indemnities be demanded by either side.
That Montenegro, Serbia and Albania be divided between Austria, Bulgaria and Greece.
That an autonomous government be established in Poland.
That Turkey be entirely freed of British influences.
That Germany return Belgium and those portions of French territory now in possession of the kaiser's army.
That Russia assume possession of Persia.
That England remain as she now is, neither giving nor receiving anything.
A high German official said that both sides "ought to pretty thoroughly understand by now that there could be no demands for indemnities." And as for Germany retaining Belgium he added: "There is no longer any thought of it by the government."
Regarding other terms of peace, it is the belief of the German government, according to reports said to have been made to President Wilson, that the only way to establish order in the Balkans is to distribute the land inhabited by the Albanians, Montenegrins and Serbians, between Austria, Bulgaria and Greece. That Greece would be given a share of the conquered territory is regarded as significant in its possible bearing upon that country's refusal to enter the war on the side of the allies.

necessary by crossing a federal boundary, either in driving out actual invaders or in checking a threatened invasion."
La Crosse Officers
The officers of La Crosse militia are as follows:
Company M: Frank H. Fowler, captain; George H. Hale, first lieutenant; William Ruplin, second lieutenant; Daniel M. Erickson, first sergeant; Claude W. Thompson, quartermaster sergeant; Ludwig Moe, Arthur Carr, Alfred Nesham, Earl G. Sloan, sergeants; Alvah M. Hill, Clarence L. Schriver, Alfred P. Host, Otto Enders, Irwin Sheldon, Hugo Enders, corporals.
Major J. G. Salsman confirmed General Holway's statement that the department has no word from Washington, in a telephone conversation from the adjutant general's office, Madison, this afternoon.
Company B: Capt. E. H. Rupp; First Lieut., Emil O. Schultz; Second Lieut., Paul Noffke; First Serg., Raymond Howland; Quartermaster Serg., William R. Buchda; Sergeants, Thomas J. Sholes, Robert Marquardt, William Howland and Arthur Hollnagel; Corporals, Cornelius Selbo, Cornelius Ness, John Soller, Arthur Moe, Walter Leibel and Roy Turner.
Rev. E. C. Dixon likewise emphasized the uses of the Sabbath as having much to do with its vital worth. This was also the idea behind Rev. C. C. Rowison's sermon at the Congregational church.

General Funston has advised the war department that the principal cause of his delay is to complete commissary arrangements. Great distances to be traveled and few trains, with commands scattered all along the border, is making concentration slow.
Funston has indicated that the expedition will probably move in three sections, but not necessarily simultaneously. The march will not await arrival of the three additional regiments ordered to the border from interior forts.
For scout work, Texas Rangers and other civilians are being hired by Funston. The aeroplane corps will be used when the fighting gets into open country, it is assured.
Foresees Long Campaign
Funston believes the campaign is to be long and dangerous and of "no quarter" in savagery, on Villa's part. Funston believes the greatest danger will be to advance scouting parties, who if captured by Villa will probably be murdered or tortured.
Reports to the war department today indicated that extra strong guards have already been placed at bridges across the boundary.
Delay in starting the expedition will not operate to make Villa's capture more difficult, according to army officers. The campaign plans prepared contemplate a complete clean up of Villista banditry, not mere dispersal of Villa's outlaws into small bands.
Exodus Continues
Exodus of Americans from Mexico was reported from all sections. Mining camps and ranches are being abandoned. The American colony at Mexico City was reported most apprehensive. Few American consuls remain in Northern Mexico and these have been given authority to leave.

Dixie Goes Ahead

THE SOUTH is old—in tradition and story. The South is also young—in opportunity and daring enterprise.

Have you heard, for example, of Hopewell, Virginia—the wonder city built twice in a year, where town lots change hands thirteen times in a week?

Do you know about the Sand Hill Board of Trade—the amazing story of young millionaires and tenant farmers pulling together to redeem a pauper country?

Has anyone told you that the movies are moving South? The annals of ingenuity offer no more unique instance than the staging of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" on the banks of the tropical St. John's River.

Uncle Sam has presented Birmingham with a brand new river, and the Alabama metropolis is stretching its city limits ten miles to meet this water-route to the sea.

Chattanooga has obtained so much power from harnessing the Allegheny rivers that she now calls herself the dynamo of the South.

Every winter the millions like the birds fly Southward, and Dixie, ever famed for hospitality, receives them with open arms—and pockets.

How the South entertains her gold-laden visitors, and the splendid things she is doing with her newly acquired wealth, make one of the most fascinating chapters in the great and ever widening romance of American development.

Take a look at the South with Frederic J. Haskin whose series of special articles entitled

GEORGE GUND DIES IN CLEVELAND, O.

Former Head of Local Brewery Dies After Long Illness in City for Which He Left Here in 1890

George Gund, eldest son of the late John Gund and a brother of Henry Gund, head of the Gund Brewing company, is dead at his home in Cleveland, Ohio. Death occurred on Saturday evening at 6:30. Mr. Gund had been ailing for some years, but he was able to keep at his desk until a week from his death.

George Gund was the founder and proprietor of the Gund Brewing company of Cleveland. He was born in La Crosse in April, 1855, son of John and Louisa Gund. After reaching his majority he engaged with his father in the local brewery, and was head of the company when it was incorporated in 1880. In 1890 he withdrew, being succeeded by Henry Gund. It was in 1890 that he went to Cleveland.

Funeral services will be held in Cleveland Thursday afternoon. The funeral was delayed for the arrival of a son from Seattle.

FOR BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING COUGH, GROUP, COUGHS AND COLDS

Make the Best Remedy at Home—128 Teaspoonful for 50 Cents

If everything was sold in as liberal and fair a manner as Geo. E. Marlin's Drug Store is selling Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expectant, absolutely no cause for complaint or dissatisfaction could possibly arise from anyone. This druggist says: "Buy a bottle of this remedy and try it for Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Severe Cough, Group or any Bronchial Affection, and we will return your money, just as we do with Schiffmann's famous Asthmador, if it does not give satisfaction, or if not found the best remedy every used for any of these complaints." Why not take advantage of this guarantee and try this medicine, and get your money back, rather than buying another purely on the exaggerated claims of its manufacturer or on the strength of testimonials from others and run the chance of getting something worthless and also wasting your money?

In buying this remedy, besides securing an absolute guarantee of its efficiency from this druggist, you also get about eight times as much medicine as you would in buying most any of the old-fashioned, ready-made kinds, which average from 20 to 32 teaspoonful, because 500 worth makes a whole pint (128 teaspoonful) when mixed at home with simply one pint of sugar and one-half pint of water. This remedy positively does not contain chloroform, opium, morphine or any other narcotic. It is pleasant to take and children are fond of it. You will be the sole judge, and under this positive guarantee absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy. Druggists everywhere are authorized to sell it under the same guarantee as Schiffmann's famous Asthmador of "Money Back" if not perfectly satisfactory. R. J. Schiffmann, Proprietor, St. Paul, Minn.

Foreign Markets

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, March 13.—The stock market opened irregular. Munition stocks were strong but Mexican specialties showed some hesitancy. Mexican Petroleum was off three points at 100. American Smelting opened at 100 1-4, off 1 3-8.

The market continued strong in the early afternoon, with Crucible topping the narrow list of very active issues. American Locomotive continued its upward movement and went ahead of Baldwin. Prices held well and a number of advances were noted.

Trading was narrow with American Smelting and Refining and Mexican Petroleum most active of the American issues and Baldwin and Crucible leading the war industrials. American Locomotive became very active toward the end of the first hour.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, March 13.—Bears encountered no opposition and the wheat market sank under its own weight today. After a slump of 1 1-4c at the start, both May and July dropped later under continued pressure. May losing 7-8c, and July 1-2 May ruled around 107 5-8 and July around 106 3-4.

Commission houses were good buyers in corn, which rallied from a lower opening. May sold at 76 1-4c and July at 77 1-8c.

Oats offerings were speedily absorbed. May was slightly higher at 43 5-8c and July up 1-8c at 42 3-4c. Provisions were steady.

Electric Restaurants.

A large mining company has installed an electric restaurant 150 yards in from the foot of the shaft in one of its mines. Here food is cooked or heated electrically, and hot coffee is prepared by the same means. Since most of the important coal mines already use electric power underground for power purposes, there should be little difficulty in establishing subterranean electric restaurants in any of them.

FEAR OF UPRISING HOLDS FUNSTON'S MEN ON THIS SIDE

Infantry, Artillery and Cavalry Stream Into El Paso for Pending Invasion

NATIONAL HOSTILITY FEARED

Former Carranzista Official Predicts Entire Nation Would Rise Against U. S. Troops

BY H. D. JACOBS
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
EL PASO, Tex., March 13.—Threatened with war by an aroused Mexico, Uncle Sam's expedition to avenge the Columbus raid was still held in leash along the border today.

Coming on special trains toward the "war front" were regiments of infantry, artillery, cavalry, engineers and forces of all the branches of the army either to take an active part in the invasion of Mexico after Villa or to replace the border troops sent into wipe out banditry.

"The hour to go in" now was expected to arrive some time Tuesday, although Major General Frederick Funston's policy of thorough preparedness and diplomatic negotiations with the defiant Carranzistas may further delay the expedition.

Carranza's alleged threat of armed opposition to the entry of the American troops and Villa's flight toward the defenseless American Mormon colonists in Chihuahua has torn the border country between feelings of anger and fear.

The problem of seizing all the northern Mexican railways and preparing to fight both Carranzistas and Villistas is now before the army heads.

Carranzistas Want War
Carranzista officials are reported having trouble suppressing a mutinous spirit among their soldiers.

A TWICE-TOLD TALE

One of Interest to Our Readers.

Good news bears repeating, and when it is confirmed after a long lapse of time, even if we hesitated to believe it at first hearing, we feel secure in accepting its truth now. The following experience of a La Crosse woman is confirmed after two years.

Mrs. H. Hermanson, 1125 S. Third St., La Crosse, says: "I had dizzy and nervous spells and my kidneys were weak. My back ached intensely. Nothing helped me until I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Begun's Drug Store. I was soon rid of the pain and other kidney ailments." (Statement given October 8th, 1910.)

STILL USES DOAN'S

OVER TWO YEARS LATER, Mrs. Hermanson said: "Whenever any symptoms of kidney trouble appear, I use Doan's Kidney Pills. They soon restore me to good health."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Hermanson has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Here are six of the United States soldiers killed by the bandits of Pancho Villa, who raided Columbus, N. M., Thursday, March 9. They are: Fred A. Griffin, private, Troop K, 13th U. S. Cavalry; Frank T. Kendall, horseshoer, Troop K, 13th U. S. Cavalry; Harry Wiswell, corporal, Troop G, 13th U. S. Cavalry; Paul Simon, corporal, 13th U. S. Cavalry; Mark A. them, which condition points clearly to a shortage of automobiles in the spring and summer months that has never been equaled and only those who buy now can be sure of owning a new car when the motoring season begins.

Queer thing about our bills. They have a habit of running a long time without getting any farther away from us.

DO YOU SUFFER FROM BACKACHE?

When your kidneys are weak and torpid they do not properly perform their functions; your back aches and you do not feel like doing much of anything. You are likely to be dependent and to borrow trouble, just as if you hadn't enough already. Don't be a victim any longer.

The old reliable medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla, gives strength and tone to the kidneys and builds up the whole system. Get it today.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

and take over the Mexico Northwestern railroad. This leads into the mountainous region of central Chihuahua, where Villa was expected to make a stand.

American troops sent on the Mexico Northwestern will detain at Guzman, ninety miles from the border, according to plans discussed by army men. A second detachment will detain at some point in the Casas Grandes valley farther south. At the same time cavalry regiments were expected to march almost due south from Columbus and Douglas to cut off Villa's flight into the Sierra Madras.

GETS TRAINLOAD OF DORT CARS

That there is an unprecedented demand for Dort cars in Minneapolis and the northwest is verified by the fact that a solid trainload of these popular priced cars has just been received by the La Crosse Auto Co., 921 Hennepin avenue.

In business nine months and shipping cars by the train load to single distributors; this is the enviable record of the Dort Motor Car Co., of Flint, Michigan, manufacturers of the Dort $650 touring car.

A search back over the annals of the industry fails to reveal any similar instance of rapid production increase.

It is all the more remarkable when one considers that on the first of May, 1915, the Dort factory at Flint was shipping only two cars a day. The credit for this remarkable showing, which is without equal, is due to the indomitable will of J. D. Dort, president of the Dort Motor Car Co. and to his two able executives, John Mansfield, sales manager of the company, and to D. M. Averill, general manager, in charge of the production of cars.

To those who know the building of motor cars, and the many obstacles that the raw material market has presented to any such increase of production that the Dort has been able to show during the past nine months, the record made by the Dort officials is almost beyond relief. All join in giving these men credit for doing something that a year ago the veterans of the automobile industry would have, without a single dissenting vote, acclaimed impossible.

B. R. Kelly of the La Crosse Auto Co., 921 Hennepin avenue, the distributor for the Dort in Minneapolis, reports that the first solid train load of Dorts shipped this year moved in Thursday of last week to Minneapolis. This was a solid train load of 35 carloads and contained some 200 odd Dort touring cars. The freight charge alone on this shipment was over $4,000.

"I have contracted for about 2,000 cars," said Mr. Kelly. "I wish I could get the factory to allot me twice that number, for I know I could move them with very little trouble. The Dort with its sturdy construction is remarkably well adapted to our country roads, and will stand an amount of punishment and day in and day out hard work that one would not believe possible. I have been very successful with it, because it has made good everywhere and it is honestly built all the way through by a factory that has had 30 years of experience in building one of the most popular lines of bugies and farm vehicles that has ever been shown. Berling and Sturz Auto Co., 413 No. 3rd St., are local dealers for the Dort Automobiles.

BUICK LAUGHS AT CAR SHORTAGE

The shortage of automobile freight cars, a result of the vast number of automobiles now being shipped by manufacturers, has brought about the general use of flat cars for this purpose, the motor cars being securely fastened to the flat and covered with waterproof tarpaulins. Trainloads of such shipments are leaving the Buick factories at Flint, Michigan, almost daily. A twenty-six flatcar load of Buicks

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion is nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we cravate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash, or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescent, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

Cat's Blue Eyes Shine Red in Dark. As showing how widely the permanently blue eyes of cats differ from other eyes, it is noted that immediately the eyes of white cats that are to have permanently blue eyes open they shine bright red in the dark, and neither the ephemeral kitten blue nor any other colored eyes do this.

Salvador And Rowlands Here For Next Fight

St. Paul Middleweight Contender and Milwaukee Battler to Stage Feature Bout

Johnny Salvador of St. Paul, contender for the middleweight title, and Len Rowlands of Milwaukee will come together in the closing fight of the next show of the Kammia A. C., Matchmaker Fred W. Harris announced today. The two men fought to a draw in Milwaukee in December. The other bouts have not yet been signed.

E. J. Steinmetz was elected secretary of the club at a meeting of stockholders Friday. H. A. Lee formerly held the office, as well as that of treasurer. Lee continues as treasurer.

GALESVILLE WINS HIGH SCHOOL TITLE OF THIS SECTION

Stubborn Defense and Strong Offense of Gales Serve to Defeat Mondovi

MONDOVI MEN ON TO SWENSON

Star Forward of Galesville Unable to Score Because of Vigilance of Opponents

Standings in Normal Tourney	W.	L.	Pct.
Galesville	3	0	1.000
Mondovi	2	1	.667
Arcadia	1	1	.500
Cashton	1	2	.333
Onalaska	0	2	.000
Bangor	0	3	.000

Playing a wonderful defensive game as well as putting up a strong enough offense to win, the Galesville high school team won the high school championship of this section of the state in the final game of the normal tourney on Saturday night. The score was 15-9. Accordingly, Galesville will represent this section at Milwaukee in the state meet.

Mondovi, too, played a good brand of ball, but the shooting ability of the team did not measure up to the standard set in the previous games. This, coupled with considerable hard luck, accounted for their defeat. The ball was in play in Mondovi territory during a large part of the last half, but the ball could not find the basket. The Galesville boys, on the other hand, were perfected in the shooting game and scored whenever an opening presented itself. In the games on the first two nights, Galesville had relied almost entirely on Swenson at right forward for her scores. In the semi-finals this demon made all but four of the points scored by his team and in the first game Swenson made nine baskets in one half. On Saturday night, however, the heavy Mondovi guards had this man covered every minute and the Galesville squad had to depend on its other men for the scores. Mondovi was allowed but one field basket per half. They also fell down on shooting fouls, thereby losing a big advantage as Referee La Fromboise was forced to call fouls repeatedly on the Galesville men who worked with determination every inch of the way. The game was fast and snappy throughout.

A large crowd of Galesville people were on hand to root for their team as they had been on Friday night. This aided very materially in putting the local tournament on a firm financial basis.

Trophies Presented

The Galesville team was presented with a beautiful silver shield and seven gold medals immediately following the game. The Galesville crowd went frantic when they realized that their team had won. The Mondovians were presented with silver medals for each individual on the team. Arcadia, who was defeated by Galesville and who had defeated Cashton the first night, won third place in the tourney and the bronze medals. Inasmuch as Cashton won the triangular game of the losers on Thursday evening, that team is entitled to fourth position. Onalaska came next in the games of the losers.

CHICAGO, March 13.—Wisconsin, for the fourth time in five years, holds the basket ball title of the Big Nine, following the defeat Saturday night of Northwestern 24 to 21 on the Purple floor. The largest crowd that ever saw a basket ball game in the west turned out, for a win for Northwestern would have meant a tie for western honors.

With the score 15 to 10 against them at the beginning of the second half, Wisconsin started the irresistible Meanwell attack and by the middle of the period had passed the Purple. Levis and Chandler starring. The Badgers' conference record is eleven games won and one lost.

ROOKIES AND REGULARS

PALESTINE, Texas.—Batting practice, nothing but batting practice—that's the order in the Brown's camp for the remainder of the week. Jones, peeved at the lack of hits in yesterday's games, was on the job early today coaching the squad in slugging.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas.—The Cardinals spent the morning loafing around the town seeing the sights. Huggins decided on the rest because of the hard games with San Antonio Saturday and yesterday. The locals trounced the Cardinals yesterday, 7 to 6.

BADGER GYMNASTS DEFEAT CHICAGO

MADISON, Wis., March 13.—Wisconsin gymnasts won from Chicago here Saturday night by the score of 1,250.25 to 1,210.75. The Badgers won four events making a clean sweep in the parallel bars, while Chicago was superior in two events. The Maroon wrestlers were superior to the Badgers.

SPOTLIGHTS

STOCK FOOD

Those who attended the La Crosse theater yesterday saw the Ted Dalley Stock company play one of the best shows that La Crosse has ever had the privilege to see at popular prices.

"The Man From Home," is more than the Ted Dalley Stock company promised. They present the play in a most creditable manner.

Ted Dalley gave an excellent performance of "Daniel Vorhees Pike" and Miss Wimmer as "Ethel Graham Simpson" was seen to the best advantage since the company's engagement. The many friends of Charles Marston, a local boy, enjoyed his work immensely. The balance of the cast did much to help make "The Man From Home" the very best offering of the stock season.

Owing to the fact that the company gives way to "The Yellow Jacket" Wednesday, there will be only three more performances of "The Man From Home". A "Tango-Tea Matinee" will be the feature Tuesday, with music, dancing and good social time for everyone. The theater orchestra will furnish the music for an hour's dancing on the stage and all are cordially invited.

EMBEZZLER ARRESTED

HOUGHTON, Mich., March 13.—Accused of forgery and embezzlement as public officer, Jacob Steffen, postmaster of Lake Linden, Houghton county, was under arrest here. The alleged defalcations, totaling $8,100, took place when he was village clerk of Lake Linden.
